

Lufthansa Group Updates

We are rethinking travel: more individuality and more comfort – in all classes of travel

Join us for a look at the travel experience of the future. Discover Lufthansa Allegris, a new generation of onboard comfort that will revolutionize long-haul travel, from First Class to Economy Class, starting in 2023.

This is the most extensive product and quality modernization in the Lufthansa Group history – and more than 100 long-haul aircraft with over 30,000 new seats will be equipped with it in the next few years.

Here's a sneak peek at some of the highlight:

- First Class Suite: spacious, private closed-door suites providing maximum privacy and comfort
- Business Class Suite: For the first time, Business Class travellers can also look forward to their very own suite
- Choice of seating options in Business Class: With a total of seven different seating options, designed to meet your customer's individual wishes
- Premium Economy Class: This comfortable seat in an innovative hard-shell design, can be adjusted effortlessly without disturbing neighbouring passengers in the row behind
- Sleeper's Row 2.0 planned for Economy Class: By folding up the leg rest and adding a mattress, passengers in Economy Class can relax and sleep more comfortably

SWISS introduces the next-generation air travel experience

Just a few days ago, we introduced you to Allegris, the new Lufthansa long-haul product in all travel classes. Today, we are pleased to give you a first glimpse of the new SWISS travel experience on long-haul flights starting 2025: SWISS Senses.

Roll the film!

With SWISS Senses, your customers will be able to tailor their travel even more closely to their own individual needs. For the first time, SWISS will be offering a suite concept in SWISS First and parts of SWISS Business.

In all travel classes, SWISS guests can look forward to a new state-of-the-art inflight entertainment system with larger screens and convenient connection options for their own personal devices. A new Human-Centric Lighting also helps passengers reduce the effects of jet lag.

Our entirely redesigned cabins incorporate a timeless color scheme and top-quality materials that all draw their inspiration from Switzerland's unique nature and architecture. The warm and muted tones such as claret, anthracite and beige convey a particular sense of warmth and well-being.

Take a first look at SWISS Senses

SWISS Senses is part of the largest products and services initiative in the history of the Lufthansa Group, which is investing a total of 2.5 billion euros to further improve the customer experience at every stage of the journey.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

Please inform your customers that they are responsible for complying with the regulations and checking transit regulations for Switzerland and Germany, where applicable.
